To Whom it May Concern,

Amazingly, Jimmy Tingle agreed to impart his comic genius to my milestone birthday party –my friends and I were so excited as we first heard Jimmy at the Ding Ho in Cambridge about 45 years ago and have continued to follow him. Not only is Jimmy an enormously funny observational comic, he is able to address the events of the world while exuding hope, vitality and a deep desire to heal. He is the breath of fresh air we all need.

Jimmy set up his sound system in the Airbnb living room, brought his retrospective video of his humor over time – including his appearance on the Tonight Show and speech at his graduation from the Kennedy School (great story there). As a true comedian, he kept us all laughing through the set up, the show and the break-down. What a special time. Thank you, Mr. Tingle!
